

Katie Spence

Katie joined Dere Street following a successful eighteen months working as an inhouse barrister (and pupil) at one of the largest criminal defence firms in London. She is a criminal practitioner and accepts instructions in the youth, magistrates and Crown Court, both prosecuting and defending.

Katie's delivery of oral arguments and presence in court has been commended by the judiciary both during trials and during complex sentencing hearings.

Prior to coming to be bar Katie worked as a criminal appeals paralegal dealing with out of time criminal appeals against both conviction and sentence and assisting with the preparation cases to go before the single Judge/ CCRC.

NOTABLE CASES

R V B

The defendant pleaded guilty to possession with intent to supply class A drugs. At the sentencing hearing, despite the Judge concluding that the starting point for her offending was 4.5 years, Katie was able to persuade him that in light of her personal mitigation a suspended sentence could be imposed.

R V C

Katie represented the defendant who was charged with sexual assault (x2), intentional strangulation and assault occasioning actual bodily harm. Following a four day trial in Newcastle the jury returned a not guilty verdict on all counts.

R V D

The defendant was charged with wounding with intent. On the day of trial the Crown prosecution service applied for an adjournment to serve a witness summons. Katie opposed this application on the basis that it was the day of trial and this delay was contrary to the criminal procedure rules. This resulted in the Crown offering no evidence and the defendants immediate release from prison. An application for a restraining order on acquittal was also successfully opposed by her.
